

Access to Recovery Grant

Changing How Open Independence Can Ensure Success

Arizona County Drug Courts:

Cochise County

Coconino County

Maricopa County

Pima County (COPE)

Yavapai County

Background

The Access to Recovery (ATR), Changing How Open Independence Can Ensure Success program is a three-year grant awarded by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration-Center for Substance Abuse Treatment to the Arizona Governor's Office for Children, Youth and Families-Division for Substance Abuse Policy in September 2007. The purpose of this grant program is to support the expansion and enhancement of methamphetamine treatment and recovery support services through County Adult Drug Courts. This project is a collaborative effort between the Governor's Office for Children, Youth and Families - Division for Substance Abuse Policy, Pima Prevention Partnership, COPE Community Services, Cochise County Superior Court, Coconino County Superior Court, Maricopa County Superior Court, and Yavapai County Superior Court.

ATR provides vouchers to permit individuals with substance use problems or those in early recovery to receive clinical treatment and recovery support services. The program expands the range of clinical treatment and recovery support services available to individuals. ATR vouchers permit funding to follow individuals over time. These vouchers give individuals a mechanism for shaping and combining services according to their strengths, needs, and personal preferences.

Goals

- Provide services to 495 Adult Drug Court Clients in years two and three.
- Expand the capacity of community and faith based organization.
- Support choice and opportunity for recovering methamphetamine abusers.
- Increase the array of services both secular and non secular in each County Adult Drug Court.

Accomplishments

Arizona ATR has identified some notable successes as measured by comparing intake to discharge data:

- a 260% increase of clients reporting either being employed or attending an educational facility;
- a 171% increase in clients reporting no use of alcohol or illegal drugs; and
- 100% of clients report no alcohol or illegal drug related health, behavioral, social consequences at discharge.
- In addition approximately 25% of all CHOICES providers are Faith-based Organizations.
